Area educators invited to March 4 GSW conference

Americus

The Georgia Southwestern State University School of Education invites area P-12 science and math educators to the Partnership for Reform in Science and Mathematics (PRISM) Mini-Conference Saturday, March 4, at the GSW Education Center. The event, which runs from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., is titled "Taking Science and Mathematics Even Higher."

The conference will focus on new and innovative classroom activities for science and mathematics. Presentations will be led by Dr Lettie Watford, interim dean of the School of Education, and Lynn Larsen, director of the Georgia Youth Science and Technology Center at GSW.

Registration fee is $5 in advance, or $10 at the door. Morning beverages and food, as well as lunch, are included in the fee. For additional details or to register, contact PRISM coordinator Janis Webb at (229) 931-2544 or e-mail jwebb@csnes.gsw.edu. More information is available on the Web at www.education.gsw.edu/soe/prism/home.htm.
